By Pat J. Kirwin

THAT the giant covered bridge which spanned the Scioto river, west of the city, for 45 years, was destroyed by fire on March 20, 1881. Built in 1836 at a cost of $19,000, the bridge, 659 feet in length, was one of the historic landmarks of the town. The blaze which swept the giant structure causing it to collapse into the river, is believed to have started from a carelessly-thrown cigar stump.

Like the burning of the famous aqueduct on April 27, 1915, the covered bridge fire brought home to every Circleville resident to the scene, the blaze lighting up the entire western section of the town. A Mr. McGinnis, a watchman at the gas factory which was then located nearby, saw flames in the southern end of the bridge about 8 p. m. He summoned two workers and asked them to go to the police department and spread the alarm.

When told that the bridge was afire, two of the city's police officers refused to believe it, and, according to Miss Lillie Darst's comments in The Herald of the time, the structure might have been saved if these officers had taken prompt action. They waited more than an hour before going to the scene of the fire and were then aroused by the clang of bells of two of the city fire companies' trucks.

By this time, the fire was sweeping the entire structure and the work of the fire companies was of no avail. A riotous March wind fanned the blaze, which enveloped the bridge in slightly more than three hours. Describing the collapse of the historic landmark into the waters of the Scioto, Miss Lillie Darst wrote vividly:

"The great central spans of the bridge fell as islands of fire and soon lighted the whole course of the river with unearthly splendor. Soon, only the massive stone piers were left standing."

ALTHOUGH built in 1836 at a cost of $19,000, the burning of the bridge entailed a loss of $29,207.27 because of the fact that another span of 126 feet had been added in 1872. The structure was built of timber floated down the Susquehanna river. It was constructed by The Circleville Bridge Co., a corporation listing as its stockholders: Samuel Rogers, William Foreman, Andrew Huston, N. S. Gregg, Sr., William Martin, William B. Thrall, and Oliver Hartwell.

The county commissioners contributed $15,000 towards construction of the bridge. Work was commenced by L. C. Day, Connecticut contractor, in the spring of 1836 and completed in the summer of 1837. On the day following the burning of the bridge, the Ohio General Assembly passed a resolution authorizing the commissioners to take steps to replace the structure.

That one of Pickaway-co's most celebrated murder cases was the Lewis poisoning case of 1881. Only in few other occasions has so much of the county's great legal talent participated in a single case. When Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, Monroe-twp, died in July 20, 1880, after eating breakfast, a post mortem was held and arsenic poisoning was found in her stomach. Her husband and a son were also taken ill, presumably from the coffee they drank. An investigation resulted and another of the sons was charged with poisoning his mother. Prosecuting Attorney J. P. Winstead was assisted by able Judge S. W. Courtright, while the defendant employed Henry F. Page, A. T. Walling and I. N. Abernethy to defend him. After two days of deliberation, a jury found the defendant guilty of manslaughter. He was sentenced to serve 20 years at hard labor in the Ohio penitentiary.

Mark Maxey to be Awarded Eagle Ranking At Circus, April 27, After Passing Life Saving Tests

A story of a hard-working youth overcoming fear to reach a set objective is being recounted by executives of the central Ohio area council of Boy Scouts. The youth involved is Mark G. Maxey, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. Tibbs Maxey.

Young Maxey had his heart set on attaining an Eagle Boy Scout rank, the highest honor that can be gained in the world of scouts—but he was afraid of water. His superiors in the area council say that as soon as he would hit the water he would tighten up, become tense. But he fought and fought and finally overcame his fear enough to pass the life saving test, the final examination he had to take before winning the Eagle award.

Executives of the council office are high in their praise of young Maxey for the will power he showed in sufficiently overcoming his fear to pass the test.

He will be awarded the Eagle rank at the scout circus to be held April 27.

Mark Maxey to be Awarded Eagle Ranking At Circus, April 27, After Passing Life Saving Tests

A story of a hard-working youth overcoming fear to reach a set objective is being recounted by executives of the central Ohio area council of Boy Scouts. The youth involved is Mark G. Maxey, son of Rev. and Mrs. R. Tibbs Maxey.

Young Maxey had his heart set on attaining an Eagle Boy Scout rank, the highest honor that can be gained in the world of scouts—but he was afraid of water. His superiors in the area council say that as soon as he would hit the water he would tighten up, become tense. But he fought and fought and finally overcame his fear enough to pass the life saving test, the final examination he had to take before winning the Eagle award.

Executives of the council office are high in their praise of young Maxey for the will power he showed in sufficiently overcoming his fear to pass the test.

He will be awarded the Eagle rank at the scout circus to be held April 27.

A Court of Honor will be held at Ashville school auditorium next Thursday beginning at 7:30 p. m. with first and second classes and merit badges to be awarded. G. D. McDowell is chairman of the court.

French Protest Armament to League

By International News Service

With a new international conference to embrace Germany decided on for the end of May, the Stresa parley approached its end today in a "blaze of optimism." Developments follow:

STRESA—Tri-partite conference agreed to call a meeting of all states bordering on Austria, as well as England and France and Russia and Poland.

GENEVA—French protest on German rearmament reached League of Nations.

LONDON—Poland, Hungary and the little entente nations will participate in the new international conference on Danubian problems, it was stated in a Reuter message from Paris today.

Hitler to Accept

BERLIN, April 13—Germany will accept an invitation to attend the proposed international conference at Rome at the end of May, International News Service was informed by authoritative government sources today.

Germany, it was said, has long expected convocation of a conference of Europe's leading powers to negotiate a collective non-aggression pact with the French sponsored mutual assistance clause deleted, at least so far as the Reich is concerned.

Thus news the Stresa Conference had decided to call such a parley was regarded in Berlin as a turning point in European history, constituting automatic recognition of German equality since the Reich will be seated at the same table as the other powers.

ASSISTANCE ASKED

Bulkley Responds to Post Office Pleas

An effort to correct the uptown parking situation, especially on Saturday, was gaining support today as the Chamber of Commerce directors, meeting Friday evening, voted to urge merchants and their employees to leave their own automobiles at home on Saturday to provide space for customers.

All merchants are to be directly contacted by officials of the Chamber of Commerce who will urge their support.

This effort is being made to right a situation which has been termed serious by the Rotary club and other organizations. The question of time parking has been discussed but there are many difficulties to be faced in working out such a system, it has been decided.

Cooperation Urged

Co-operation of merchants is solicited by the Chamber of Commerce.

Efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups to have the post office building and grounds properly completed may bear fruit although nothing definite has yet been learned concerning appeals made to Senators Robert J. Bulkley and Vic Donahue and Congressman Mel G. Underwood.

Senator Bulkley has responded to telegrams sent by several groups. MacL Parrett, Jr., secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, received the following communication:

Bulkley in Action

"I have your letter of the 5th with reference to certain discrepancies in the building of the new post office building in Circleville.

"I have been glad to take this matter up with the post office department and shall advise you when reply reaches me."

Robert J. Bulkley

Leland E. Pontius, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, and others have received a similar response.

Bronson H. Mounts. Waverly youth charged with check forgery, will enter a plea of guilty after pleading not guilty a week ago. It is believed he will also be paroled.

Earl Fetherolf, Washington-twp, jailed for sodomy, will probably be sent to Mansfield reformatory, the court indicated.

A Lenten Poem:

Come thou with me
To Calvary
And see the Christ
Cursed and despised
Yet never fairer rose
Love's holy star
A guide to lowly wanderers, near and far
Sacred the ground where man for man has died
Blessed the eyes that see the Crucified
He who has made Gettsemane a shrine
And through the darkness heard a call divine
Steps from the night
Forth into light
When God imparted
To sorrowing hearts
His wondrous peace
The storms will cease
Come thou with me
To Calvary
And see the Christ
Cursed and despised
Yet conquering pain
He rose again
On love's strong wings
The King of Kings

Your Church invites

Again Holy Week with its solemn reminder of the Passion of our Lord comes upon us. What would it not mean to our distressed world if men could heed the word of Jesus, "Take up thy cross, and Follow Me." There would be less of self-assertion. There would be less hatred. As the world is more and more influenced by the spirit of Jesus Christ war will become more remote. There will be more genuine brotherhood among men. There will be less crime. Love will have a larger rule in the hearts of men. Who or what agency is to bring this about? At present there is no other agency that so faithfully seeks to preach and exalt Christ as the only way as the church. You make your best contribution to all that is good as you cooperate with the church. Go to church tomorrow—Palm Sunday. Take a friend.

7 p. m.—Young People meet.

8 p. m.—Preaching on the subject: "The Sting of Death."

Please note the hour of night service is changed to half hour later and will continue that for the spring, Summer and early Fall.

There is evidence of death all about us. Before they can be a springing forth to life there must be death. Even the fountain that gushes forth refreshing has been a barrier of the cooling water. The seeds we are planting-burrowing must first die and be buried. The giver of all life said: "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die it abideth alone. But if it die it beareth much fruit."

The grain of wheat dieth to some good purpose as its Creator intended it should. The Savior of men died to the eternal purpose of God that man through his sacrificial death might live to God in life eternal.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Luke 2:11, 30-32; 15:3-7; John 3:14-17; 10:9-11, 14-16, 27, 28; Acts 3:1-8; Rom. 5:1-11; Phil. 2:5-11; 11 Tim. 1:9, 10.

Jesus came to earth primarily to save sinners. His name Jesus means Saviour. The angels announced his birth to the shepherds as "good tidings of great joy, for unto you is born a Saviour which is Christ the Lord."

To Nicodemus Jesus likened his mission to that of the brazen serpent Moses lifted upon a pole in the wilderness: "Even so must the Son of man be lifted up, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish but have eternal life."

Jesus also likened his mission to that of the shepherd seeking his lost sheep until he find it. "I am the good shepherd: the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep. I give unto them eternal life; and they shall never perish."

All this teaching was fulfilled when Jesus gave himself in death for us on the cross, not because we were so good but because he was so loving: "God commendeth his love to us in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us." (GOLDEN TEXT—John 3:16)

A Lenten Poem:

Come thou with me
To Calvary
And see the Christ
Cursed and despised
Yet never fairer rose love's holy star
A guide to lowly wanderers, near and far!
Sacred the ground where man for man has died!
Blessed the eyes that see the Crucified.
He who has made Gethsemane a shrine
And through the darkness heard a call divine.
Steps from the night
Forth into Light
When God imparts
To sorrowing hearts
His wondrous peace,
The storms will cease.
Come thou with me
To Calvary
And see the Christ
Cursed and despised
Yet, conquering Pain
He rose again,
On love's strong wings—
The King of Kings!

Your Church invites
You to attend its
Palm Sunday Services
Tomorrow.
Why not accept the invitation?

Sermon, "The King Eternal," a Palm Sunday sermon.

Organ Prelude, "Festival Prelude," Frysinger.

Offertory Anthem, "O Morn of Beauty," Sibelius.

Postlude, "The Palms," Faure.

Beginning Tuesday night there will be preaching services.

The Session will meet after the Wednesday night service. The communion of the Lord's supper will be observed on Thursday night.

Friday at two o'clock there will be a union service at the Methodist Episcopal Church. On Friday evening the choir assisted by some of the members of the Methodist choir will sing "The Seven Words from the Cross." All other engagements will be postponed to the week following.

Again Holy Week with its solemn reminder of the Passion of our Lord comes upon us. What would it not mean to our distressed world if men would heed the word of Jesus, "Take up thy cross, and Follow Me." There would be less of self-assertion.

There would be less hatred. As the world is more and more influenced by the spirit of Jesus Christ war will become more remote.

There will be more genuine brotherhood among men. There will be less crime. Love will have a larger rule in the hearts of men.

Who or what agency, is it to bring this about? At present there is no other agency that so faithfully seeks to preach and exalt Christ as the only way as the church. You make your best contribution to all that is good as you cooperate with the church. Go to church tomorrow—Palm Sunday. Take a friend.

7 p. m.—Young People meet.

8 p. m.—Preaching on the subject: "The Sting of Death."

Please note the hour of night service is changed to half hour later and will continue that for the spring, Summer and early Fall.

There is evidence of death all about us. Before they can be a springing forth to life there must be death. Even the fountain that gushes forth refreshing has been a burial of the cooling water. The seeds we are planting—burying—must first die and be buried. The giver of all life said: "Except a grain of wheat fall into the ground and die it abideth alone. But if it die it beareth much fruit."

The grain of wheat dieth to some good purpose as its Creator intended it should. The Savior of men died to the eternal purpose of God that man through his sacrificial death might live to God in life eternal.

8 CANDIDATES FOR MAY QUEEN CHOSEN

Classes Each Select Two Girls to Compete For Honor May 1

On Wednesday, May 1, some one of these lucky girls: Mary Newmyer, Betty Nickerson, Rosemary Hummel, June West, Mary Ann Sapp, Anne Vlerebome, Doris Moffitt or Dorothy Fohl will be reigning in triumphal splendor as the first May Queen of Circleville high school.

These girls were chosen, two from each class, in the high school and from these girls one will be voted the May Queen by the high school next week.

The girl receiving the second highest number of votes will be chosen as the maid of honor, while the other four girls will serve as attendants.

Little children as faries, May pole dancers, Robin Hoods, milk maids, and athletes will precede the queen in the procession.

Ten cents will be charged as admission to this festival.

Playground Swings Destroyed; to Rebuild

The ravages of time have left their mark again.

Those faithful friends of grade school pupils, the playground swings on the south and east sides of the high school building, passed into temporary oblivion this week. They had been condemned by school officials and dismantled.

Students of Corwin street building, however, may rest assured of their being rebuilt. Reconstruction of the swings is being undertaken by "Steve" Jones, C. H. S. custodian, and Claude Goodman who razed the old ones.

"Tiger" Baseball Team Loses First Encounter

After a disastrous first inning which netted an East high team six runs, the "Tigers" new baseball team lost its first encounter, at the East high ball field, by a score of 7 to 1.

After a nervous start Circleville fought the East team on even terms for five innings, but were unable to overcome the large lead.

Coleman and Rader proved capable pitchers by holding the East squad to three hits, while the "Tigers" were able to get four.

Friley, Speakman, Osborne, Kirwin, Carothers, Carle, John Jenkins, Grant, Plum, Roth and Bell also represented the "Tigers" in their first game.

Freshmen Organize; Name 'Bob' Fickardt

By an overwhelming majority "Bob" Fickardt was elected president of the Freshman class at a meeting held Monday afternoon.

Other officers who were elected at the same time include Ruth Robinson, as vice-president; Betty Bowsher, secretary; and Caroline Michaels, treasurer.

All these students were nominated by the petition system, which requires that 30 per cent of the group must sign a person's petition in order that his name may appear on the ballot at the class election.

The freshmen also exercised a democratic privilege when they "wrote in" names of several of their classmates who had not been nominated when the petitions were first circulated.

Champion "Tiger" Golf Team Defeats East High

As far as the East high golf team is concerned, Circleville high "Tigers" are still true champions as was shown last week when they, the Buckeye league athletes, defeated a classy East high squad at the Pickaway country club by a score of 7 to 4.

This victory shows the champions are in top form and are anxious to repeat last year's triumphs.

Joe and Joe Jenkins, Charles Steyer, Harold Juler and William Brown represented the "Tigers" with both John and Joe Jenkins coming in with low scores.

The "Tigers" are hoping for a return match soon.

BIBLE CLASS HAS INTERESTING SESSION

The Shining Light Bible class of the United Brethren church enjoyed an interesting meeting, Friday afternoon, in the community house, when it met for its April session.

The meeting opened with Mrs. Roy Groce, president, presiding, and with a song service led by Mrs. Iley Greeno. Miss Ann Greeno led the devotionals which were followed by sentence prayers.

The business transactions followed. It was decided the class would be responsible for the decorating of the church for Easter. Mrs. Iley Greeno, Mrs. William Hegele and Miss Nellie Denman were appointed as a committee in charge of the decorating.

Mrs. Hegele was also named chairman of the committee to prepare the dinner at the stockyard May 22.

The nominating committee to prepare a slate of officers for election in May was appointed and is comprised of Mrs. Harold Conrad, chairman, Mrs. Frank Hussey and Miss Anna Greeno.

After the business session the meeting was turned over to the program leader, Mrs. C. O. Kerns. The program opened with group singing of "Christ Liveth in Me," and all members took part in a reading exercise, "Good Thoughts for April."

The leader read a poem, "Let Me Walk with the Crowd in the Road," followed by two vocal numbers of Miss Cora Camp. She sang, "Trees" and "The Blue Danube," and was accompanied by Miss Virginia Harper.

Mrs. Harley Noggle gave a reading, "Her Success," and two vocal selections "Christ Arose" and "Wonderful Peace," were sung by a trio comprised of Mrs. Ralph Long, Mrs. Iley Greeno and Mrs. Hegele. The program concluded with an impressive talk by the pastor, Rev. T. C. Harper, who used as his subject, "Christ's Last Week."

A social hour ensued and a lunch in keeping with the Easter season was served by the April committee, Mrs. Ed McClarren, chairman, Mrs. Lawrence Stonerock, Mrs. Ernest May and Mrs. Charles Richardson.

8 CANDIDATES FOR MAY QUEEN CHOSEN

Classes Each Select Two Girls to Compete For Honor May 1

On Wednesday, May 1, some one of these lucky girls: Mary Newmyer, Betty Nickerson, Rosemary Hummel, June West, Mary Ann Sapp, Anne Vlerebome, Doris Moffitt or Dorothy Fohl will be reigning in triumphal splendor as the first May Queen of Circleville high school.

These girls were chosen, two from each class, in the high school and from these girls one will be voted the May Queen by the high school next week.

The girl receiving the second highest number of votes will be chosen as the maid of honor, while the other four girls will serve as attendants.

Little children as fairies, May pole dancers, Robin Hoods, milk maids, and athletes will precede the queen in the procession.

Ten cents will be charged as admission to this festival.

Playground Swings Destroyed; to Rebuild

The ravages of time have left their mark again.

Those faithful friends of grade school pupils, the playground swings on the south and east sides of the high school building, passed into temporary oblivion this week. They had been condemned by school officials and dismantled.

Students of Corwin street building, however, may rest assured of their being rebuilt. Reconstruction of the swings is being undertaken by "Steve" Jones, C. H. S. custodian, and Claude Goodman, who razed the old ones.

"Tiger" Baseball Team Loses First Encounter

After a disastrous first inning which netted an East high team six runs, the "Tigers" new baseball team lost its first encounter, at the East high ball field, by a score of 7 to 1.

After a nervous start Circleville fought the East team on even terms for five innings, but were unable to overcome the large lead. Coleman and Rader proved capable pitchers by holding the East squad to three hits, while the "Tigers" were able to get four.

Friley, Speakman, Osborne, Kirwin, Carothers, Carle, John Jenkins, Grant, Plum, Roth and Bell also represented the "Tigers" in their first game.

Freshmen Organize; Name 'Bob' Fickardt

By an overwhelming majority "Bob" Fickardt was elected president of the Freshman class at a meeting held Monday afternoon.

Other officers who were elected at the same time include Ruth Robinson, as vice-president; Betty Bowsher, secretary; and Caroline Michaelis, treasurer.

All these students were nominated by the petition system, which requires that 30 per cent of the group must sign a person's petition in order that his name may appear on the ballot at the class election.

The freshmen also exercised a democratic privilege when they "wrote in" names of several of their classmates who had not been nominated when the petitions were first circulated.

Champion "Tiger" Golf Team Defeats East High

As far as the East high golf team is concerned, Circleville high's "Tigers" are still true champions as was shown last week when they, the Buckeye league titlists defeated a classy East high squad at the Pickaway country club by a score of 7 1/2 to 4 1/2.

This victory shows the champions are again in top form and are ready to repeat last year's triumphs.

John and Joe Jenkins, Charles Styers, Harold Imler and William Frice represented the "Tigers" with both John and Joe Jenkins coming in with low scores.

The "Tigers" are hoping for a return match soon.

REPRESENTATIVE HERE

Mr. Clippinger, a representative from Ohio university, interviewed many students from the Senior class who are planning on attending college and were interested in attending the university he represented.

Vote Of Appreciation

The Red and Black staff speaking for the entire high school extends a vote of sincere appreciation to those civic clubs who have financially aided the organizing of a baseball team at C. H. S. The donors are the Kiwanis club, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Elk's club.

To the seniors, Dave Steinhauser, Loren Carothers, and John Carle, we give corresponding credit. These students might be called the "instigators and promoters of the school baseball project."

WHO'S WHO Among Seniors

There is an old saying, "When you wish a thing, done, get the busiest person you can find to do it." Such is the story of Virginia Caskey, the most versatile person in the Senior class at C. H. S.

Virginia has acquired an enviable reputation as a musician. She has been the official assembly pianist for two years, accompanied for music classes and glee clubs for four years, and a member of the band and orchestra for a similar period.

Her latest interest surrounds her work on the Literary and Arts staff of the "Circle." To her varied repertory she has also added dramatics, as she was selected as one of the members of the cast for the Senior class play.

Although no definite college has been decided upon by the subject she plans to attend Capital university.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caskey, N. Court-st. are Virginia's parents.

Returns of State Senior Scholarship Tests Given

Six Circleville high school seniors will be awarded district certificates and another will receive a state certificate as a result of the check-up of the state senior scholarship examination scores.

One per cent of the 4587 Ohio senior participants made scores of 311 out of a possible 400. The upper 5% of the students tallied 283.5 or above.

High scores in the state were turned in by three students, one each from the districts of Miami Kent college. These three each had totals between 340 and 359 out of 400.

Horace Gilmore of C. H. S., high scorer in Pickaway county, was accredited with a total of 268.

Perfect totals in the "World Today" division of the examination were made by eight seniors.

Twenty-nine students had individual scores of between 75 and 79 in the science division while two more had like totals in the mathematics section. Possible score in each division was 80. History and English comprised the other two tests.

As a whole, boys made higher scores than did girls.

Student Opinion

Question: Do you think it pays to "cram" for an examination?

Eleanor Miller, senior: If I study hard the night before an exam, the material is always fresh in my mind for the test. If "cramming" is taken as a very thorough review, I think it pays.

Wilma Welch, junior: I never "cram" for a test, because in trying to memorize so much at one time, I get confused. If a person keeps up on his daily work extra study is unnecessary.

Carl Mader, sophomore: Trying to memorize a whole book might pay, in that it helps to make one a better grade for a certain test, but on the other hand, I forget in one week all that I learned while "cramming."

Bill Niles, freshman: Study hard every day and then when a test comes along you won't have to "stuff" your head full of a lot of material that you will never remember a week hence.

Lucille McCune, senior: When something happens so that you can't get part of your daily work and a big test arrives, what are you going to do? Go home and "burn

EXPERIMENT IN FREEDOM

NOTWITHSTANDING the many and variant feelings about the independence of the Philippines, the jubilation in Manila over President Roosevelt's countersigning the new constitution of the island is easily understood. For more than thirty years the Filipinos have clamored for independence, and what appears to be independence is now in sight. All they have to do to obtain political freedom from the United States is to approve the new constitution at an early plebiscite and it will become theirs automatically eleven years from the next Fourth of July. That is if the experiment upon which the Filipinos are venturing proves workable and satisfactory, and nothing occurs in the Far East to upset present calculations.

Economically the experiment does not look promising. President Hoover denounced the independence bill and it was passed over his veto. When rejected by the Filipinos because of some objectionable features it was modified slightly, but it remains more of a bill to protect certain American industries from Filipino competition than a bill in the economic interest of the islanders. With all the economic and political confusion there is in the world at present, it is safest to regard the next ten years as a period of experiment, in which the United States as well as the Filipinos will need to exercise the greatest wisdom and restraint.

FLORIDA UP AND COMING

FLORIDA, it will be recalled, blazed the way for the depression. When the great boom collapsed and fortunes, mostly on paper, were swept away, the nation was given its first realization of the etheral character of our prosperity. Fears were confirmed shortly afterward by the swift descent of the stock market to levels never known before. Then the cracking-up process became general.

But Florida is rising from the ashes. During the season just closing the tourists brought to the state's resorts $625,000,000 worth of business. Nearly two million visitors were entertained and the winter, on the whole, was the best since the boom days of 1925-26.

This news is important not only to Florida, which for a time was a place of desolation, with the tragic remnants of departed prosperity visible on every side, but also to the country as a whole. Because, after all, Florida's progress is dependent upon business conditions generally throughout the country and, in consequence, the return of happy days may properly be interpreted as an authentic sign that the country as a whole is looking up.

ROOM ENOUGH FOR BOTH

FORTUNATELY the Pacific is a very big ocean, nearly twice as wide as the Atlantic and plenty large enough for the fleets of the United States and Japan to maneuver without coming within several days' run of each other.

There is no need for any provocation provided sensible precautions are taken, although the wisdom of our holding the maneuvers in the Hawaii-Alaska-Puget Sound triangle at this time may be questioned. For this reason the steps taken by the navy to preserve an atmosphere of good will must be approved. It has announced that the maneuvers will not be allowed to come within 2,000 miles of Japanese territory. Admiral Upham, commander of the Asiatic fleet, will visit Yokohama on a good will mission the day the maneuvers begin. The American and Japanese fleets will not hold their maneuvers simultaneously.

This should go a long way toward preventing the rise of unfriendly feeling or unpleasant incidents. Both countries can play in the Pacific as long as they keep out of each other's territory. Both know the great expanse of water is better than a wall between them. Let them keep within bounds and avoid even the appearance of provocation.

If congress can curb war through its war-curb bill we take back all we ever said about it.

A Thought for Today

"And as they led him away, they laid hold upon one Simon, a Cyrenian, coming out of the country, and on him they laid the cross, that he might bear it after Jesus."

"And there followed him a great company of people, and of women, which also bewailed and lamented him."

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE

McDONALD FEADER

CHAPTER 34

BUT LOUISE did not go to Stewart with her troubles. She found no opportunity to do so, for Stewart was mysteriously busy these days. She might have been suspicious of him except for the fact that he had such plausible excuses and supplemented them with costly gifts and telephone calls and a good sized check or two. Surely no man who wasn't still crazy about her would do that. However, in the back of her mind lurked the suspicion she had voiced to Goldberg, so she sent for Douglas.

Mostly out of curiosity Doug went to her dressing room. He was vastly amused at her attempt to be subtle in her questionings, but the cocktails she offered were good and so he stayed and talked to her.

"You're a dear to tell me all these interesting things about the gypsy," Louise said. "I guess I've been awfully wrong but you can show how I felt, the star of the show, with her busting right in with all that publicity. I've been pretty snooty to her but you have to be to most chorus girls, and especially to dancers or they just run over you asking favors. I'm perfectly willing to make friends with her now—" Louise bit her lip. It was hard for her to even lie in this matter of the gypsy girl. "After all I suppose it'd be a break for the kid to have her say she was a friend of Louise's. Leave it to me to help someone along. I'm just that way I guess." She sipped the mild cocktail and refilled their glasses. "Goldie would give me hell if he knew I was drinking again between acts—but heck, these are the times, don't you know. She's simply beautiful now that she has so many new clothes," she said, turning back to the subject.

Doug grinned.

"As if the clothes made any difference," he chided.

"They make a lot of difference when you pay for them."

"Well, I can afford it."

"You're sure the kidder, Doug. I'm not a bit curious but I was just wondering who's playing sugar for her?"

"Not sugar—pepper, where the gypsy girl is concerned; and besides you're an insulting wench to infer that I couldn't pay for her clothes."

"Who does, really?" she questioned, trying to keep the eagerness out of her voice.

"Me."

"Are you ever serious? Go on, tell me, I won't tell."

"Daisies have."

"Stewart must be awfully generous to let you spend so much time with her—or do you work for him any more?"

"I'll let you in on a secret, Lou—" A call boy broke in:

"Time, Miss L'Ville."

"Louise swore under her breath. 'Tell me!'"

"Oh heck, you haven't time—"

"Yes, yes, I have, tell me!"

"I'm mad about her!" he whispered.

Louise gave him a withering look and left.

Doug grinned and stepped out of the dressing room. At that moment Consuelo saw him.

"Douglas, what are you doing in there?" she demanded.

"Um—m—m—you'd be surprised, little chicken." He put his arm around her.

She shook him off.

"Do you like that woman?"

"Sh. not so loud, my darling—against the rules." He pulled her hair.

"You're jealous of me, gypsy."

"Bah!" Consuelo flung off his hand and, going back to her dressing room, she looked at her wrist.

She looked at her wrist.

"Do you like that woman?"

"Sh. not so loud, my darling—against the rules." He pulled her hair.

"You're jealous of me, gypsy."

ing room, slammed the door behind her, which was also against the rules. It was the first time she had been angry with Doug, or jealous of him.

This white woman, everywhere I turn she is standing in my way, the gypsy thought. She has put her eyes on Doug, my Douglas, and I will slap her face for that. If it wasn't for her I would be dancing all through the show. Renaldo says I do not have to rehearse much longer. Then what am I to do? Sit and wait and wait and wait—

She thought of the day backstage when L'Vile had insulted her so. She thought of the night that followed when she swore black vengeance on the woman. What had she done about it? Nothing. Waited—waited, like a person afraid.

The applause from her one act had turned her head and made her forget how she hated this woman? Applause for one number? Bah! One act, what was that? L'Vile went on a dozen times. Gypsy Consuelo could go on a dozen times, too. Didn't she know the dances and the songs and hadn't they rehearsed the ensemble numbers with the rest of cast? Now that she had done all this what was the good of waiting?

The girl stopped pacing the floor and sat cross-legged on the couch, the wide silk skirt spread about her. She was in costume—gypsy, all gypsy now, waiting to dance. Her legs were covered with anklets, more than she had ever dreamed of in the days of the van. Her wrists were heavy with bracelets. There were necklaces and earrings, and the scarf wound around her head was brilliant with bangles. It was only at the theater that she dressed like this any more, gorgio clothes had become a part of her life for other times. Now it was good to sit cross-legged and be dressed like a gypsy and to have bare toes curling against her legs.

The call came and she went down. When she went on, the sound of applause was like manna to her. She could not see very far out into the house but she knew that out there, row after row, people sat and watched her and the knowledge was heady wine and she thought that she could go on and dance and sing forever. Now if only a silver dollar would fall at her feet it would be perfect.

She thought of the country fairs and how she had danced with never a thought of the money lights or of makeup or of the rough boards under foot. Never again would she do that—no, not even for the sound of silver dollars falling at her feet. She was a famous, rich gypsy. She remembered Petru and his flute and here below her were 30 pieces all playing just for her.

Too soon the act was finished and she made her final bow and the curtain came down and men rushed on to change the scene for the next number. Now if only she could run upstairs, change quickly into another costume and come down and go on and dance—and dance—ah, she would never tire! But no, she must go up and take off her makeup and her gypsy clothes and her jewelry, her cheap jewelry, and she was through for the night, through until the next night. Down below, the show would go on for another hour or more and she was through—through! But L'Vile would dance and sing and dance and sing and—

She went back to her dressing room.

I have been a fool! I have thought that this was the marble palace and so it is, but instead of dancing on the floor, I am standing below and this white woman is dancing in my place. How Marcu would sneer at me! He would say, what is the matter, little one, have you forgotten how to fight? You used to carry a knife in your blouse but you have turned into a white dog and are afraid!

If Marcu were here he would do the thing she wanted. But since he was not she must—some way! (TO BE CONTINUED)

AT THE CLIFTONA

The horse which Gary Cooper rides in the leading role of Paramount's "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer," coming Sunday, Monday and Tuesday to the Cliftona Theatre, is a full-blooded Arabian steed. It was specially purchased from the famous Kellogg stables for Cooper's use in the picture.

Franchot Tone, Richard Cromwell, Sir Guy Standing, Monte Blue and Kathleen Burke are also featured in "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer." Four years of work were required to bring the picture to the screen.

AT THE GRAND

Barbara Stanwyck, who delights in tonorial experiments, introduces a startling new hairdress designed for her by Percy Westmore in her latest First National starring vehicle, "A Lost Lady," which comes to the Grand Theatre on Sunday.

Editorial Of The Day

(Ohio State Journal)

There are various theories as to the cause of the great and destructive dust storms, and there will be, of course, a number of recommendations as to methods of preventing recurrences of these disasters.

Some ministers declare the storms to be a punishment sent on the people for their wickedness, but if that is the explanation one must set up in his mind a divinity that is rather partial, for knowledge of social, moral and spiritual conditions in this country does not warrant the assumption that the people of the Atlantic seaboard, with its great cities, are any more likely to sprout wings than are the western farmers and ranchers.

E. J. Utz, assistant regional director of the soils erosion service, goes back to the world war for the cause of the storms. Mr. Utz declares that during that great conflict the United States deemed its duty to be to feed the rest of the world, and plowed up land that should have remained in grass and sod, and left nothing to hold the loose earth together. But the west saw droughts and dust storms long before the world war was dreamed of, and, of course, long before white man discovered the plains. After all, perhaps nobody knows the real cause, just as it may be possible that nobody can really suggest a practical cure.

PART GAME SCORES

ONE DOES NOT always have to bid games or slams to score tops in duplicate games. Last evening I saw two top scores at the New York Athletic club made on part game scores. The first was scored on a bid of 4-Clubs. Nobody else bid or made more than 3-Clubs on the hand. The second hand is shown below.

The opening lead was the 9 of hearts. Dummy played low. East's 10 covered and declarer's Ace won. He led back his lone Q of clubs, overtook with dummy's K and lost to East's Ace. The winner led his Q of hearts, losing to dummy's K, and two club tricks were run off. Upon them the declarer discarded his last heart and a low diamond. Game was assured if only 2 spade tricks still had to be lost.

Dummy led a trump, losing to East's K. Back came a heart, which

Following the service the monthly meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. B. Johnson. A special

AT THE GRAND THEATRE

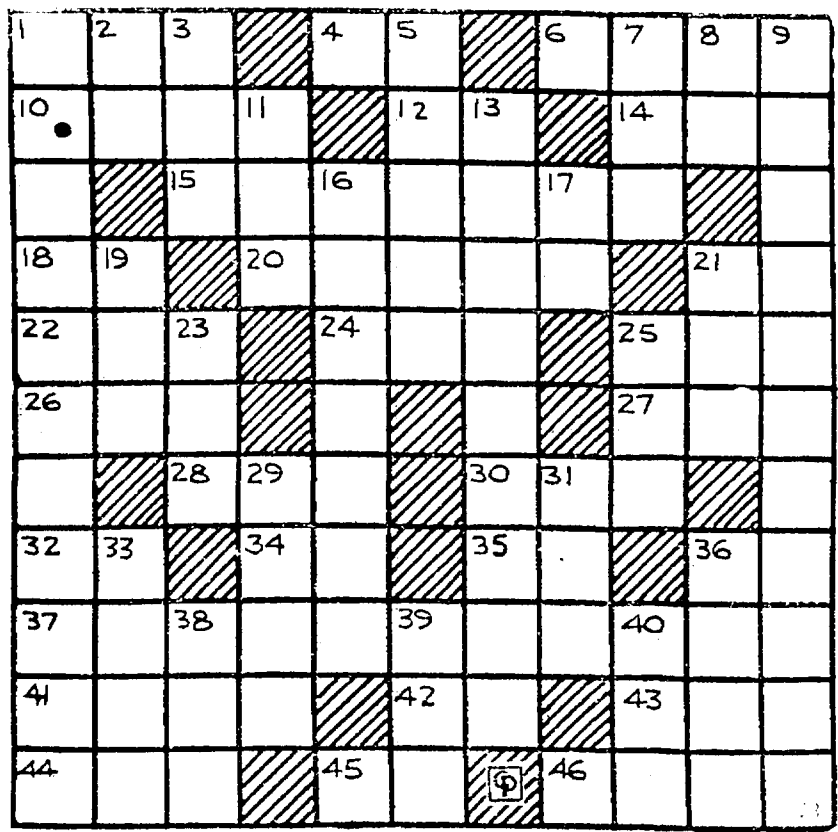

The radiant optimism, the contentment and the good cheer which have been the keynote of Daisy and Violet Hilton's struggle to overcome the strange handicap Nature placed upon them in inseparably linking their bodies together, brings to mind the old Mississippi River poker axiom in effect, that good poker isn't in getting good hands, but in playing poor hands well.

The talent and skill, the grace and charm with which they present their orchestra attraction, which is to come to the Grand on Sunday, is evidence that the Hilton girls, "America's Siamese Twins", have played their hand well, and have made the most out of what might have been a poor hand. Daisy and Violet Hilton are the only twins alive who were born joined together.

Although born joined together, they enjoy the ease and freedom of movement common to other normal and wholesome young girls of their age. In addition to the theatrical talents which made them one of vaudeville's greatest sensations, they swim and box, dance, play tennis and golf, and in every other way, get the maximum enjoyment out of life.

WHERE HIGH SCHOOL SPEEDSTERS MEET

High school track stars from nearly 75 Ohio cities and towns will converge upon Delaware Saturday, April 27, for the fourth annual Ohio Wesleyan High School Relays, the only track event of its kind in the country.

The unique feature of these Relays is that each of the 12 events is for teams. In any of the six running events a high school must enter a team of four boys, while in the field events three boys must constitute a team. Individuals may try for records in the field events and may win medals, but cannot score points for their schools.

Approximately 1,000 schoolboys are expected to vie in the classic this year. Last year 851 entered. The meet has grown steadily since it was inaugurated in 1932.

By field of Ohio Wesleyan university, an aerial view of which is shown herewith, is the scene of the Relays. George Gauthier, director of athletics at Ohio Wesleyan, is the director of the sports carnival. Dave Brown, upper right, is coach of the Toledo Scott team which won the class A title a year ago and which is favored to repeat this spring. Class B was won by New London last year.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Just a Suggestion

Here's a suggestion that has been passed to us—it seems to be in following with what is being proved successful in other cities, even so small as Circleville.

Minor is Necessary

The state athletic commission has ruled that in order to coach in this state an individual must have at least minor in physical education in college—Why not make the coach's job at Circleville high school a full time project, relieving the coach of teaching duties which now overwhelm the person responsible for the success of the high school athletic teams—in the first place it doesn't seem fair that a person must coach, spending three and four hours on the practice field after school and in the evening, then get up in time to be in school for the first class in the morning and be kept in a class room all day.

Intramural Program

A full-time coach, with no classroom requirements on his mind, could work out an intramural program that would include the entire school but no one person has time enough to carry on an intramural system in addition to regular sports and classroom duties.

Ball Season Near

Unless the weather opens up considerably between now and Tuesday there are going to be a lot of postponed baseball games. It's too cold to play ball and it's too cold to watch baseball played.

'Ree' Meeting Monday

It is urged that all interested in recreation ball attend the meeting at 8 o'clock in The Herald editorial rooms. An organization will be perfected and plans for opening the league will be made.

BOWLING ALLEYS BEING INSTALLED

Membership Tickets Being Sold By Committee; Assistance of Community Sought

Work on installation of bowling alleys at the Circleville Athletic club was started Friday with two ten pin alleys to be ready for action about April 29.

Committee in charge of raising money for the outright purchase of the alleys are asking the support of the community. Tickets are being sold for $5, the purchase of which entitles the holder to 25 games on the alleys, or it can be used after the alleys have been installed.

The bowling installation is one of the efforts planned for the rejuvenation of the Athletic club.

Persons having tickets are De Witt Bach, Earl Pearce, F. A. Lynch, L. M. Butch and J. I. Smith, Jr.

REDS CONFIDENT

CINCINNATI, April 13.—(Byline of optimism.) The Cincinnati Reds were back home today prepared to wind up their exhibition series with the American League champions on the home lot. The Tigers and Reds were rained out of their scheduled game yesterday at Charleston, W. Va.

BIRDS AFTER NEW RECORD

Believe They Have Chance to Set New AA Mark With Good Weather Tuesday

COLUMBUS, April 13.—Given a clear sky and a warm day Tuesday, the Columbus Red Birds have a fine opportunity to break all opening day attendance records in Columbus and possibly in the American association when they raise the 1935 curtain with the Indianapolis Indians as opponents.

Last year the Birds copped the Hickey trophy for the best opening day crowd in the A. A. and those in charge of opening day arrangements predict an even greater throng than that which packed the stadium in 1934. The advance ticket sale this year has been boosted to over three times that of last year by the large block reservations of many Columbus civic organizations, industrial plants and merchants.

Several of the larger concerns have declared a half holiday for Tuesday's opener, while Mayor Henry Worley "went the limit" with a proclamation calling on every loyal fan to be at the Red Bird stadium when the first ball is pitched by Governor Martin L. Davoy at 3 p. m. the 16th. Teamed with Davey in the opening ceremonies will be Chief Justice Carl Weygandt, Mayor Henry Worley and Attorney General John W. Bricker.

With the Red Birds slated to arrive at 11:50 Monday noon, a round of activities including a complete outfitting in new uniforms, two radio broadcasts, a baseball luncheon and an annual baseball dinner is on the books for Monday.

LOUIS SMASHES NEGRO FIGHTER

CHICAGO, April 13.—Joe Louis, bronzed 20-year-old Detroit dynamo, landed larger—much larger—on the heavyweight fistie horizon today.

There was no doubt about that in the minds of Max Baer, the heavyweight champion himself, and 18,000 google-eyed customers who saw the cat-like negro youth unshaven, Patterson N. J., upstart, easily transform Roy Lazer, into a gory smear in the third round of the Chicago stadium last night.

They had to carry the pathetic figure of a youth who had won 35 consecutive fights, to his corner after two minutes and 28 seconds of the third round. They almost dumped the bloody, unconscious form into the lap of the heavyweight champion who mixes flippancy with homicide.

It was a gruesome climax to a drama which featured the introduction of Baer to the assemblage before the main event and the spectacle of Louis' fourteenth knockout in 18 professional fights.

WHERE HIGH SCHOOL SPEEDSTERS MEET

SELBY FIELD, SCENE OF OHIO WESLEYAN RELAYS

High school track stars from nearly 75 Ohio cities and towns will converge upon Delaware Saturday, April 27, for the fourth annual Ohio Wesleyan High School Relays, the only track event of its kind in the country.

The unique feature of these Relays is that each of the 12 events is for teams. In any of the six running events a high school must enter a team of four boys, while in the field events three boys must constitute a team. Individuals may try for records in the field events and may win medals, but cannot score points for their schools.

Approximately 1,000 schoolboys are expected to vie in the classic this year. Last year 851 entered. The meet has grown steadily since it was inaugurated in 1932.

elby field of Ohio Wesleyan university, an aerial view of which is shown herewith, is the scene of the Relays. George Guthrie, director of athletics at Ohio Wesleyan, is the director of the sports carnival. Dave Brown, upper right, is coach of the Toledo Scott team which won the class A title a year ago and which is favored to repeat this spring. Class B was won by New London last year.

MANY DOGS IN TRIAL

MANY PRIZES ARE DONATED

Event Starts at 7:30 a. m. Sunday On Land Near Yellow-bud; Interest High

If Sunday's weather is favorable it is expected 100 dogs or more will be entered in the field trial of the Pickaway-co Sportman's Bird Dog club to be held on the Stevenson-Immel land at Yellowbud. The trial starts at 7:30 a. m. with competent judges in charge.

The trial is the initial effort of the bird dog club which was only recently organized.

The drawing will take place on the third floor of the I. O. O. F. building at 8 o'clock this evening.

Many prizes have been contributed by business houses of this city with cups being offered by the J. W. Eshelman Co. and the Ralston-Purina Co.

Dogs are being entered from Xenia, Springfield, Columbus, Athens, Washington C. H., Chillicothe and other central Ohio cities.

Here's how to get to the grounds:

Drive west on Route 22 to the white church on the south side of the highway in Wayne-town; turn left there and go to Kinderhook; turn left at the first cross-road after striking Kinderhook and drive one mile.

Prizes have been donated by the following in addition to the milling companies: Clarence Wolf, Winorr Canning Co., Joseph's, Paul Johnson, George Grand-Girard, Wittich's candies, E. S. Neuding, Mykrantz, Hamilton and Ryan, J. C. Penney, Rothman's, Shelby and McCrady, Barrere and Nickerson, Crist department store, Fitzpatrick printery.

OHIO STATE LOSES

SOUTH BEND, Ind., April 13—Tallying the winning run after one man had been retired in the last half of the tenth inning, Notre Dame's crack baseball team emerged as victors by a 4 to 3 margin in yesterday's contest with the Scarlet and Gray of Ohio State.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Just a Suggestion

Here's a suggestion that has been passed to us—it seems to be in following with what is being proved successful in other cities, even so small as Circleville.

Minor is Necessary

The state athletic commission has ruled that in order to coach in this state an individual must have at least minored in physical education in college—Why not make the coach's job at Circleville high school a full time project, relieving the coach of teaching duties which now overwhelm the person responsible for the success of the high school athletic teams—In the first place it doesn't seem fair that a person must coach, spending three and four hours on the practice field after school and in the evening, then get up in time to be in school for the first class in the morning and be kept in a class room all day.

Intramural Program

A full-time coach, with no classroom requirements on his mind, could work out an intramural program that would include the entire school but no one person has time enough to carry on an intramural system in addition to regular sports and classroom duties.

Ball Season Near

Unless the weather opens up considerably between now and Tuesday there are going to be a lot of postponed baseball games—it's too cold to play ball and it's too cold to watch baseball played.

'Rec' Meeting Monday

It is urged that all interested in recreation ball attend the meeting at 8 o'clock in The Herald editorial rooms—An organization will be perfected and plans for opening the league will be made.

BOWLING ALLEYS

BEING INSTALLED

Membership Tickets Being Sold By Committee; Assistance of Community Sought

Work on installation of bowling alleys at the Circleville Athletic club was started Friday with two ten pin alleys to be ready for action about April 29.

Committeemen in charge of raising money for the outright purchase of the alleys are asking the support of the community. Tickets are being sold for $5, the purchase of which entitles the holder to 35 games on the alleys, or if not dealt out in bowling can be redeemed after the alleys have been paid for.

The bowling installation is one of the efforts planned for rejuvenation of the Athletic club.

Persons having tickets are DeWitt Bach, Earl Pearce, F. A. Lynch, L. M. Butch and J. I. Smith, Jr.

REDS CONFIDENT

CINCINNATI, April 13—Brimful of optimism, The Cincinnati Reds were back home today prepared to wind up their exhibition series with the American League champions on the home lot. The Tigers and Reds were rained out of their scheduled game yesterday at Charleston, W. Va.

LOUIS SMASHES NEGRO FIGHTER

CHICAGO, April 13—Joe Louis, bronzed 20-year-old Detroit dynamo, loomed larger—much larger—on the heavyweight fistic horizon today.

There was no doubt about that in the minds of Max Baer, the heavyweight champion himself, and 18,000 google-eyed customers who saw the cat-like negro youth unshaven Paterson, N. J., upstart, calmly transform Roy Lazar, into a gory smear in the third round at the Chicago stadium last night.

BIRDS AFTER NEW RECORD

COLUMBUS, April 13—Given a clear sky and a warm day Tuesday, the Columbus Red Birds have a fine opportunity to break all opening day attendance records in Columbus and possibly in the American association when they raise the 1935 curtain with the Indianapolis Indians as opponents.

Last year the Birds capped the Hickey trophy for the best opening day crowd in the A. A. and those in charge of opening day arrangements predict an even greater throng than that which packed the stadium in 1934. The advance ticket sale this year has been boosted to over three times that of last year by the large block reservations of many Columbus civic organizations, industrial plants and merchants.

Several of the larger concerns have declared a half holiday for Tuesday's Opener, while Mayor Henry Worley "went the limit" with a proclamation calling on every loyal fan to be at the Red Bird stadium when the first ball is pitched by Governor Martin L. Davey at 3 p. m. the 16th. Teamed with Davey in the opening ceremonies will be Chief Justice Carl Weygandt, Mayor Henry Worley and Attorney General John W. Bricker.

With the Red Birds slated to arrive at 11:50 Monday noon, a round of activities including a complete outfitting in new uniforms, two radio broadcasts, a baseball luncheon and an annual baseball dinner is on the books for Monday.
